

Deseret News

People on the Move

September 10, 2006

People on the move

- Dana Williams was named managing broker for the Park City office of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage. Williams has 17 years of real estate experience, including five years with Coldwell Banker. He also currently serves as mayor of Park City.

- The law firm of Parr Waddoups Brown Gee & Loveless announced that attorney Daniel A. Jensen was elected an executive committee member-at-large for the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation for 2006-07. Jensen, a natural resources attorney at Parr Waddoups, also serves as trustee-at-large for the foundation.

- The law firm of Stoel Rives announced the addition of five new associates at its Salt Lake office. Mark Astling has joined the firm's business services group as an associate. Astling's practice focuses primarily on federal, state and local tax issues for corporate and pass-through entities and individuals. Yury Colton joined the firm as an associate in Stoel Rives' technology and intellectual property group. Colton specializes in U.S. and foreign patent preparation and prosecution. An associate with the firm's wealth management group, Michael Garrett specializes in estate planning, estate and trust administration, federal and state taxation and general business and corporate law matters. Jeremy Green, an associate in the firm's real estate practice group, focuses his practice on real property development, finance, transfer and land use. Scott Hansen, an associate in Stoel Rives' litigation group, specializes in matters involving product liability, employment, energy, accounting, antitrust and general commercial litigation.

- Architectural Nexus, a Salt Lake-based architectural firm, announced the promotion of four professionals to associate. Jeffery Davis specializes in higher education and performing arts facilities. He has 13 years of experience in the industry. Brian Cassil has more than 10 years of experience in the visualization/3-D computer rendering field. He joined the firm in 1998. Julie Berreth has more than 20 years of experience working as an architect. She specializes in management of large-scale commercial office projects and design-build work. Robb T. Harrop has been with Architectural Nexus since 1998, utilizing both 3-D computer modeling and traditional design approaches in the design process.

- Andy Toolson has joined Cambria Capital as vice president and financial consultant for the firm's Salt Lake office. Cambria Capital is a boutique investment banking and wealth management firm.

- Listen Technologies Corp., a Salt Lake-based maker of wireless audio products used in auditory assistance, tour group and other applications, announced two staff changes. Jeremy Timothy has joined the firm as FM product manager. Timothy, a Brigham Young University and University of Phoenix graduate, will manage all product content related to datasheets, technical and architectural specs and the company's Web site. Kristin Rector has joined Listen as marketing communications administrator. Rector has an extensive background in event planning and management in the nonprofit sector. She is a graduate of Purdue University.

- The National Association of Certified Valuation Analysts announced that Marshall Lockie has joined its education and conferences department as an event production specialist. Prior to joining the NACVA, Lockie served as operations manager with the event technology department at a Salt Lake hotel. Headquartered in Salt Lake City, the association supports business valuation, litigation consulting, fraud deterrence and detection and other disciplines within the CPA and professional business and advisory communities.

- St. Mark's Hospital announced three executive management changes. Mary Joe Jones was named chief clinical officer. Jones is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame and was recently named Nurse Executive of the Year by the Utah chapter of the American Organization of Nurse Executives. Bryan E. McKinley was named chief financial officer. McKinley is a graduate of Idaho State University and Boise State University. Prior to joining St. Mark's, his recent posts include chief financial officer at two other Utah medical centers. Matt Dixon was named chief operating officer. Dixon previously served as associate administrator at a Bountiful medical facility. He is a graduate of BYU and the University of Michigan.

- The Depot, a Salt Lake concert venue, has named Fred Kleisner II as general manager of the club. Kleisner has more than 14 years' experience in the hospitality industry and will oversee all of The Depot's operations.

- Design Workshop announced that Ekpanith Naknakorn, a landscape architect, and Aaron Nelson, an urban planner, have joined its Salt Lake office. Naknakorn earned internships in Thailand in 2002 and in Singapore in 2003 and 2004 and helped to rehabilitate 15 national parks following the 2004 Asian tsunami. Nelson has worked as a planning assistant for the planning division of the city of Draper and as a community planning specialist for a Salt Lake nonprofit organization. He is a graduate of the University of Utah.

- Western Governors University announced that David E. Simmons, president and chief executive officer of Simmons Media Group, was elected to its governing board. In addition to his work at Simmons, David Simmons also heads Western Broadcasting and Crestwood Communications Inc. He is a graduate of Harvard Business School.